DAILY — THE UNION

II.—NO. 6765 | PORTLAND, OREGON, FRIDAY, MAY 12, 1882. | PRICE—TEN CENTS.

GENERAL NEWS.

Annual Reunion of the Army of the Tennessee at St. Louis.

MR. AND MRS. SCOVILLE ONCE MORE REUNITED AT CHICAGO.

Ex-Secretary Blaine Going to Europe for a Two Year's Trip—Buffalo Bill Falls in for a Fortune.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

To be Abandoned.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Orders have been issued for the abandonment of Forts Fetterman and Sanders in Wyoming, now garrisoned by 11 companies.

Good Prospects of being Overflowed.

MEMPHIS, May 11.—A special to the Evening Ledger from Jacksonport, Ark., on White river, says: The town is three feet under water and river still rising.

Reunited at the Lunch Table.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Scoville had a pleasant and friendly meeting to-day at the Brunswick hotel and after some private talk Mrs. Scoville gave up her room and they went to lunch together.

Railroad Suit Decided.

DES MOINES, May 10.—In a suit, involving 18,000 acres of land in Iowa, between the St. Paul & Sioux City and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul roads, Judge Love has decided that the track will be divided equally between the contestants, and has appointed a commissioner to make a partition.

George T. Bliss Examined.

NEW YORK, May 11.—A congressional committee heard Geo. T. Bliss, of Morton, Bliss & Co., who testified that his firm's connection with the Credit Industrial Company was purely a business matter. He had no knowledge that Minister Morton ever acted improperly in the case, and didn't think he had any correspondence with Shipherd or knew him.

An Illicit Still Discovered.

CHICAGO, May 10.—Specials to the Times from Erie, Penn., says that the internal revenue collector has unearthed an illicit still at Union City on the farm of Ezra and Richard Steward. The officers had searched the place thoroughly without success, when the owners confessed and disclosed the machinery.

A Possibility of Chandler's Change of Heart.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The Commercial Advertiser says it is doubted by many persons whether Chandler will consent again to put on the armor for Blaine and make as bitter a fight for him as he did two and six years ago. It is known that the former intimacy does not exist between these two leaders, although Blaine assumes that Chandler is still ready to battle for him in preference to anybody else; but this remains to be seen.

Reports from the Indians.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Inspector Gardner in his report to the Indian bureau from Rosebud Indian agency, Dakota, says that at a council held there many of the Brule Sioux surrendered their arms to the number of 200 pieces. The surrender was voluntary, the Indians requesting that the arms be sold and proceeds applied to benefit of the tribe.

Indian Agent Llewellyn of the Mescalero agency positively denies the report that Indians are leaving his reservation to go on the war path.

Advice of the Catholic Council.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—The provincial council, which recently met in St. Mary's cathedral in this city, has addressed a letter to the Roman Catholic clergy and laity within its jurisdiction in which it alludes pleasantly to the large number of communicants, complains of the non-observance of the Sabbath day by a numerous class, dwells on the necessity of religious instruction being imparted to children, and condemns the frequency of divorces and reading of pernicious literature.

A Commendable Policy.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The Mail and Express has the following Washington paragraph: The president this morning, in alluding to recent Indian atrocities, recited the history of their regular yearly occurrence and said the time had now arrived when some effective means should be adopted for their prevention. He says there is no doubt that Indian depredations are checking immigration, and settlement and development of territories. Instructions have been given to use the law and military force to their extreme limit. This vigorous policy is universally commended here.

Proceedings of the Brewers' Convention.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The brewers' convention adopted a resolution asking government to encourage the production of lighter drinks by removing illiberal restrictions on manufacturers and imposing no more excise on the product or raw material than the wants of the people demand. Though averse to mingling party politics with this question, the members pledge themselves to act together in defeating candidates that pander to fanaticism by supporting prohibition. Among the amounts appropriated to fight adverse legislation and prosecution are $2500 to Michigan, $600 to Indianapolis, to be paid in trust to Christian Megtus, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, to aid in the struggle against hostile legislative enactments, and $500 to Kansas.

Reunion of the Army of Tennessee.

ST. LOUIS, May 11.—The Society of the Army of Tennessee met again this morning at Peoples' theater, Gen. Sherman in the chair. Gen. Reynolds, for the committee, reported the time and place of the next reunion as the 3d and 4th of October, 1883, the anniversary of the battle of Corinth, at Cleveland, Ohio.

The following officers were elected: President, W. T. Sherman; recording secretary, T. A. Dayton; corresponding secretary, A. Hickenlooper; treasurer, M. F. Force, with a large number of vice presidents.

A paper was read on the achievements of Iowa regiments, by Gen. Belknap.

Discussion followed and committees were appointed to consider the advisability of meeting in Yellowstone Park or Colorado in 1884, and also as to wearing of uniforms. The meeting then adjourned to meet in Cleveland October 3d, 1883.

A Tariff for Revenue Only.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The assembly has passed a bill excluding from Castle garden all emigrants brought across the Atlantic by steamship companies which decline to pay a commission of 50 cents per head. The measure is regarded as certain to become a law.

The Texas Cyclone.

DALLAS, May 11.—News from the McAllister cyclone says later deaths added to those killed outright increase the fatalities to 21 up to to-night; 40 more were wounded, but not thought fatally. Half the killed and wounded are women and children. All possible aid from physicians, nurses, &c., is being rendered the sufferers. Fifty-nine houses were totally wrecked and 27 partially. Settlements Nos. 5 and 7 of the Osage Mining Company were the ones visited. They had contained about 400 people. No. 5 was entirely wiped out, but No. 7 received only part of force of the storm. Relief subscriptions are being taken up at various points.

Buffalo Bill's Chance for a Stake.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Hon. Wm. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill), passed through town to-day on his way to Cleveland, to attend to a land suit in which he and family are interested, the trial of which begins to-day. The suit would bring him into possession of a tract of valuable property which belonged to his grandfather, and which it was claimed was signed away by the old man while insane. Should he succeed, Bill will be worth all the way from one to three million dollars, which will help him to extend still further his already extensive cattle raising business at North Platte. He stated to a friend this morning, that before the suit was commenced, he had had an offer of a compromise of $300,000 from parties representing small interests in the property involved.

Randall's Examination.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The examination of Randall, who is confined to his bed in a New York hotel, was resumed this afternoon. Randall corrected a few minor points in yesterday's testimony, and said he ascertained by cable to-day that the Credit Industrial company was founded in 1859, with a capital of 60,000,000 francs. It now has a surplus of 700,000 francs, and the bank itself represented $7,500,000 of Peruvian bonds. The capital of the du Pacifique was 13,000,000 francs. Under the contract between the Peruvian government and Credit Industrial Co., Peru was to receive 2 pounds per ton royalty, and 2 pounds to be expended in bonds. Eighty per cent. of the sale of guano was to go towards paying off Peruvian bonds, and was to be retained by the company as compensation for advances in freight, insurance, etc., and for commissions. The company bound itself to form a company within itself for this business, and did so by forming the company du Pacifique. In case of failure to fulfill any part of the contract the agreement becomes void.

Reports of Illinois Crops.

SPRINGFIELD, May 11.—Reports from all portions of the state to the department of agriculture to May 1st indicate an improvement in the condition of winter wheat in all sections of the state, and are made by prominent farmers who have the best means for determining the condition of the growing crop. Wheat on drained land is much above the average, and has seldom promised a better yield per acre. Wheat on wet land has been injured by excessive and continued rains, and will not make an average crop. Chinch bugs in large numbers are reported in various locations, but no damage has yet resulted, and unless the season is dry until harvest there is not likely to be any. The condition of the northern portion of the state improved three per cent. during the past month, and prospects are encouraging for five per cent. more than the average yield per acre of winter wheat. This is 33 per cent. better than the condition a year ago. In the central division the condition has improved three per cent. since the 1st of April, and gives promise of three per cent. more than the average yield. This is 44 per cent. above the condition a year ago. The condition in southern Illinois promises to be three per cent. more than the average yield per acre, and present prospects are good for 23 per cent. more wheat than the same counties produced in 1881.

Mysterious Disappearance.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The Commercial Advertiser says: A sensation has been created in mining circles by the reported disappearance of Wm. S. Clark and John R. Bothwell, who were connected with seven mining companies, the funds of which they are charged with misappropriating. Attachments have been issued against both of the parties. It can hardly be called disappearance in the case of Clark, as he has been in California for several months attending to mining properties. Bothwell has not been seen at his office or elsewhere since Friday. He gave no intimation of his intention to leave the city and his whereabouts are unknown. Clark was for several years professor of chemistry in Amherst college and also president of the Massachusetts agricultural college in that town. After arriving here he met Bothwell, and the two were instrumental in securing the formation of seven distinct organizations. Clark was president and Bothwell secretary and treasurer respectively of each company. Large numbers of New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Amherst capitalists were interested in the different companies, and it is reported that funds amounting to several thousand dollars have been misappropriated from each company. Mr. Dickinson, of the law firm of Dickinson, Hyde & Howe, of Boston, was here yesterday examining the accounts of Clark & Bothwell in behalf of Boston stockholders. The result of his investigation is not known.

A Journalistic Fraud.

[illegible], May 11.—John Bothwell, who appears [illegible] New York as having defrauded [illegible] funds of the companies they are [illegible] here as a journalist who some years ago wrote for the Times [illegible] plausible fellow, and there are few newspaper men in the city to whom he is not owing money. His propensity diverted him from the newspaper business, and he is said to have been wonderfully successful in mining schemes.

The Pennsylvania Ticket.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Specials from Washington indicate that proceedings in the Pennsylvania convention yesterday, will have the effect of still further widening the breach in the republican party, and that there is little doubt another republican ticket will be put in the field. Senator Mitchell is said to have stated he would not support the ticket, but that the independents will on the 16th inst. nominate a state ticket.

The Arkansas Wheat Crop.

CHICAGO, May 11.—A Little Rock special says: Leading planters say the wheat crop of Arkansas the present season is the best for years. In many localities it is already harvested and the yield promised is excellent. It is fully matured and has a firm berry, and in some counties averages 30 bushels per acre.

Meeting of the Western Mining Bureau.

DES MOINES, May 11.—The special annual meeting of directors and stockholders of the Western Mining Bureau was held yesterday. A representative says 22 corporations, with an aggregate capital of $42,000,000, were present. Letters were read from General Grant, Senator Logan, Secretary Lincoln, Governor Sherman and others. Resolutions were adopted favoring a bi-metallic standard for the world, increase of the amount of silver in dollars (making them intrinsically worth 100 cents) and a mining bureau at Washington. John H. Gear was chosen president, James Harlan vice president, Wm. H. Hallon secretary and Hamilton White treasurer.

The Gamblers' Contest.

CHICAGO, May 11.—The Tribune says: The contest over the rule to practically abolish corners on change was so close that it indicated that the gamblers and scalpers hold control by a very frail tenure. The question will come up in a new form in a few days. The rapid growth of milling of spring wheat in the northwest will soon compel the board to consider winter wheat a speculative grade. If they do not, the importance of Chicago as a speculative market will be destroyed.

Snow Storm in Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, May 11.—Reports from Northern Wisconsin state that a heavy snow storm is prevailing and several inches have fallen to-night. A slight snow storm occurred at Milwaukee.

Secretary Chandler a Bone of Contention.

BOSTON, May 10.—At a meeting of the New Hampshire club nearly 200 members were present. Excitement was caused by a motion of O. T. Moore, of Nashua, that Secretary of Navy Chandler be invited to become a guest of the club upon his visit east in June. The motion was violently opposed by ex-Senator Wadleigh and several others. Discussion became so animated a large number of members retired, and the motion was finally adopted, 15 to 11, and considerable animosity created.

A Railroad Magnate Banqueted.

OMAHA, May 10.—J. T. Clarke, general superintendent of the Union Pacific railroad, who is to occupy a like position with the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, was banqueted this evening.

Seriously Ill.

BOSTON, May 10.—W. B. Strong, president of the Santa Fe road, is confined to his house in Newton, Mass., with a severe illness.

Paddy Ryan's Disability.

CHICAGO, May 11.—The Times says Paddy Ryan told the truth about his disability in the fight with Sullivan. He called upon a State street expert yesterday and secured a retentive truss to hold a double inguinal hernia. He claims that in the second round of the contest his injury developed to double the size of his fist.

Money and Stock Matters.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Gold exports to-day are a million dollars.

The prevailing feeling is bearish, but the market acts as though somebody was picking up stocks. Gould is quoted as saying it is not time to bull stocks, when the iron market is depressed.

Senator Kernan's bill repealing such portions of the usury law as have been especially onerous in Wall street, has passed the state senate. Albany advices are that it will pass the house, and the governor is understood to favor it.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Senate bill passed establishing an assay office at Deadwood.

The bill for intermediate appellate courts was proceeded with. Jones of Florida, opposed the section limiting appellate jurisdiction of circuit courts, and gave notice of an amendment thereto.

Davis, of Illinois, denied that the section would inflict any hardship, and urged its retention as essential to the effectiveness of the proposed scheme.

After entry a motion was made by Morgan to recommit with instructions.

Bill went over with notice by Davis, of Illinois, that he would press it to a final vote to-morrow.

The small claim of $7 of Madison Day for a lot in New Orleans purchased by him under the confiscation act was passed by a party vote except six democrats, who voted with the republicans.

The bill for intermediate appellate courts was further discussed by George.

Jones of Florida, moved an amendment providing mainly for preservation of the right of appeals from district to circuit courts, as at present.

Morgan explained by reference to existing laws, the bill either cut off appeals and writ of error to the supreme court from circuit courts as to any sum from $50 to $500. No bar of the south or west had asked for the measure, but he did not wonder the New York bar had been heard from in its behalf, because it was a bill in the interest of the creditor as against the debtor class. He said it had been bruited about on the floor that the president of the United States had committed himself in the event of the passage of the bill, to appoint a number of democrats to the new judgeship. He (Morgan) spurned such overtures, and was not to be seduced from his duty by such appeals to his party fealty.

Dawes and Ingalls here interposed and criticised the statement just made by the former, asserting that those who had been interested in any negotiation with the president of the kind indicated by Morgan, and those who had been parties to it, deserved to be impeached by the senate.

The amendment of Jones of Florida, was rejected; yeas, 22; nays, 29; and several amendments offered by George and Morgan were lost by nearly the same vote,—democrats voting aye, and republicans, with Davis, of Illinois, in the negative.

An amendment was adopted on motion of Davis of Illinois providing more explicitly that the jurisdiction of circuit courts shall be neither enlarged nor abridged by a bill. After an ineffectual effort to dispose of the bill, unanimous consent was secured for a final vote upon it to-morrow.

Conference report on Indian appropriation bills was submitted. The total has been reduced by conference $456,266; report was concurred in and bill passed. Senate adjourned.

House.

Sherwin, from the committee on education and labor, reported a bill to aid in support of common schools; printed and recommitted.

It provides, for the next five years there shall be annually appropriated a common school fund of $10,000,000 to aid in support of free common schools, apportioned to the several states and territories according to the number of their illiterate population over 10 years of age. An amount not exceeding a per cent. of the sum apportioned may be used for the education of teachers in public schools.

Rice, from the committee on public lands, reported back adversely the bill to shorten to two years the period required in homesteading.

The house resumed consideration of the Geneva award bill.

After discussion the previous question was ordered, but without further action the matter went over.

Steele of Indiana, from committee on military affairs, reported a bill authorizing a retired list for non-commissioned officers of the army who have served continuously for a period of thirty years; referred to committee of the whole.

The speaker laid before the house a communication from the secretary of war in response to house resolution calling for information as to expenditures for signal service; referred. The expenditures are as follows: 1875, $435,000; 1876, $440,000; 1877, $444,000; 1878, $495,000; 1879, $505,000; 1880, $533,000; 1881, $531,000. Expenditures previously reported were erroneous.

House then adjourned.

ARIZONA.

The End of Loco's Band.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—A Lordsburg dispatch says: Col. Forsyth stated in an interview to-day, that he had had a conversation with a daughter of Chief Loco, who informed him 13 Indians had been killed in the fight at Stein's peak with Forsyth. The latter had only claimed two killed. Forsyth states that but 30 or 40 bucks are believed to have escaped with Loco from the encounter with Garcia. He inclines to the belief that Garcia would not retain the 33 prisoners he had captured, but that they would be duly passed into the happy hunting grounds.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Walla Walla Notes.

WALLA WALLA, May 11.—The Odd Fellows' Grand Lodge decided to hold the next annual session in Seattle.

Sunday a ten-year old boy was dragged to death by a horse on a farm about two miles below [illegible]. The boy had a rope wound around his body leading a horse to water. The horse became frightened and ran away. The boy's name was not learned.

Egypt in a State of Revolution.

CAIRO, May 11.—Egypt is in a state of revolution. The ministry, in violation of organic law, have summoned the chamber of notables over the head of the khedive, and the latter's deposition may be regarded as virtually achieved in favor of a government under Arabi Bey. The Egyptian ministers have formally assured foreign consuls no danger threatens the lives or property of Europeans.

Arrests and Releases.

DUBLIN, May 10.—A man named Quail has been arrested with stains on his trowsers. He came from Dublin Saturday. He admitted he was in Phoenix park at 7 o'clock Saturday night, but denied any knowledge of the murder. Another arrest was made at Athlon. The man arrested at Chester, England, last night, on a telegram from Dublin, gave a satisfactory account of himself. The man taken into custody at Milford Haven was yesterday released.

DUBLIN, May 11.—There have been further arrests in Drogheda, Longford, and county Meath, in connection with the assassination. The men arrested in county Meath have what is supposed to be blood stains on their clothes.

Reward for the Assassins.

It is proposed that citizens should contribute a sum to augment the amount offered by the government as a reward for the arrest of the assassins of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Burke. The Freeman's Journal thinks the subscriptions ought to take the form of a fund for the erection in Dublin of a monument in memory of the victims.

Attendance on Lord Cavendish's Funeral.

LONDON, May 11.—A large crowd gathered at St. Pancras railway station to-day, to witness the departure of the train conveying the mourners to Chatsworth, to attend the funeral of Lord Frederick Cavendish. Among them were the Prince of Wales and Duke of Edinburgh, representing the queen, Gladstone, Lord Granville, Forster, the attorney general, the postmaster general and many other distinguished persons.

A Goodly Gathering.

One of the most conspicuous features of the funeral of the late Lord Cavendish was an assemblage of 3000 tenants of the duke of Devonshire, father of Lord Cavendish.

Assassination News.

Trevelyan, the new chief secretary for Ireland, left London for Dublin on the night of the 9th.

The opinion grows that indiscriminate proceedings of police show they are in a state of uncertainty.

A return is issued showing that on the 3d of May 438 persons were confined in prison under the coercion act.

The Irish women of London have sent a wreath of flowers to be placed on the coffin of Lord Frederick Cavendish.

The name of the American Irishman arrested at Castle Bell inn yesterday, and brought to Dublin, is Heybourne.

Police now discredit the statements of the man who asserted that he had been offered £100 to assist in the murder.

Col. Hillyer, inspector general of constabulary, has resigned. A distinguished artillery officer will be selected to succeed him.

The lord lieutenant of Ireland has signed a minute forbidding executive officials to go beyond the precincts of the city without police protection.

At a meeting of the Parnell reception committee at Cork last evening, two ex-suspects being among those present, the abandonment of the illumination to celebrate the release of the imprisoned members was voted down without a dissenting voice.

Bicyclists' Story.

LONDON, May 10.—The two bicycle riders who assert they witnessed the murder of Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke are brass fitters, named Magee and Fry. They have been further interrogated by the castle authorities and adhere to the statement made yesterday. Fry, who was following Magee on his machine, says he saw a man drawing a butcher knife raised to strike, but did not see the stab given. He also says Lord Cavendish got up after being knocked down. The story by the men is not credited. It is not believed they saw anything of the scene they pretend to describe.

A Significant Change.

DUBLIN, May 11.—Yesterday a crowd of the lower order gathered around a car with a red panel and partly obliterated number, and insisted on the police taking it and the driver to the station for identification. This is considered a most significant change as compared with the reluctance of the populace in all previous crimes to render assistance to the authorities.

Political Opinions.

LONDON, May 11.—Gladstone thinks he can weather the storm. Many members of his own party urged him yesterday and to-day to adopt severe methods, and several radicals threaten to bolt if he continues his present policy. Nearly all the whigs threaten the same action unless he adopts a strong line of action.

Labouchere says to-night the general feeling among liberals is one of fear.

Shaw says he has the greatest confidence in the fact that the opposition has no leader equal to the emergency. A strong organizer would readily destroy the government in this crisis.

Parnell says he is no longer afraid of a total annihilation of the Irish party, for as he learns the programme of the government, he is both surprised and gratified at the absence of the mistaken retaliation which he feared.

Haley thought dissolution of the parliament extremely likely.

Arnold Forster says dissolution is only possible, but not by any means probable.

Davitt Writes to the "Standard."

LONDON, May 11.—Michael Davitt has written a letter to the Standard on the subject of the assassinations. After an expression of admiration toward the Standard's language since the terrible murders he says: "I would feel I was neglecting my duty if I permitted your remarks to pass unanswered, for the opinion you express of the sincerity of my condemnation of the murder, and for your belief that Mr. Parnell, Mr. Dillon and myself are guiltless of an alliance with assassins, I am thankful." In answer to the Standard's request to come forward and make a clean breast of information that would throw light on the murder, Davitt recalls the fact that he came out of Portland prison at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, after having been confined in solitude for fifteen months without seeing a newspaper or letter that did not pass through the hands of the governor of the prison. He refutes the implication that he and other leaguers must possess information that would enable the authorities to track the assassins. He declares that Parnell and Dillon cannot lend any more assistance in bringing the assassins to justice than that given in their manifesto. He agreed that pilgrimages ought to be made through Ireland now to denounce the assassination until those hideous crimes are exorcised from the land.

He recalls the fact that from the first initiation of the league he warned the Irish people against outrages as the greatest danger to the movement. He says when he delivered speeches in the United States from New York to San Francisco he did his best to slay the demon of revenge. He always denounced violence, and refers to the report of his addresses published by the Irish-American press, and made also by government short-hand writers, for verification of his statement.

He continues: "As to whoever is responsible for my arrest, let him come forward and declare on what grounds I was deprived of liberty, or he must rest the imputation of having removed me because of my stand against the police continuing at murder and outrage. Had I used all the influence of the land league against murder and mutilation of cattle, I would have prevented a number of crimes which stain the name of Ireland, and might have averted the horror of Saturday last."

After referring Forster to his (Davitt's) speech, in which he held Forster responsible before God for the consequences that would inevitably follow the policy of terror and coercion, Davitt admits that he is a convicted felon, convicted on a false charge sworn to by a salaried perjurer, and asks fair-minded Englishmen to put their imagination in the place of the son of an evicted Irish peasant, and answer whether it is any stigma to an Irishman that he has been a fenian. "The people of Ireland do not think so. The bad relations of the two countries have been brought about by misunderstanding and misrule, as a man may be a criminal on one side of the Irish sea and a patriot on the other. If it be said that I am a man who wishes to burn [illegible]

[illegible]

The Exchange Telegraph [illegible] are sent to prison as persons [illegible] constabulary and men of the highest character are still held on suspicion."

The Irish Bill Completed.

[illegible], May 11.—[illegible] the Irish bill is now complete [illegible] between landlords and tenants with [illegible] bill drawn by Parnell. Provided the landlord gives up one year's rent the tenant is to pay one year, and a third year is to be paid out of church surplus.

Another Crime Threatened.

DUBLIN, May 11.—It is stated that while Right Hon. M. Morris, lord chief justice of the court of common pleas, and Right Hon. Chas. Robert Barry, fourth justice of the court of queen's bench, were walking in Phoenix park Saturday, a few minutes after the murders were committed, and before they knew of them, a rough looking man said to the lord chief justice: "The chief and under secretary have been murdered, and you are the next man spotted."

Davitt's Position.

Davitt says he will willingly go to Ireland and do what he can to further peaceful doctrines, but he asks how he can protest with effect against outrages when the most brutal and irritating outrages are being committed in the name of law.

A Prisoner Remanded.

The man Quail, or Quinn, arrested at Preston yesterday on suspicion of being concerned in the Cavendish murder, was remanded until Saturday. A detective stated he thought he could get evidence which would implicate him in the crime.

Parisian Opinion.

PARIS, May 10.—Henri Rochefort's paper attempts to prove the Dublin murders were committed by landlords.

The Rappel palliates the crime.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Major Twining's Successor.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The president has appointed Major Garrett J. Lydecker, at present on duty in Chicago, as engineer commissioner of the District of Columbia, in place of the late Major Twining.

Argument on the Guiteau Case.

Argument on the bill of exceptions in the case of Guiteau were resumed this morning, and Col. Corkhill opened for prosecution. After stating circumstances of the shooting he passed on to the question of jurisdiction and pronounced as absurd the position taken that because President Garfield was not allowed to remain in Washington and die, therefore the court has no jurisdiction.

He quoted a precedent in a Tennessee case, and argued that improper evidence was admitted for prosecution.

At the conclusion of Corkhill's address on the bill of exceptions Davidge, immediately began the closing argument for the prosecution, confining himself to the question of jurisdiction of the court. Court adjourned before Davidge had concluded.

Congressional Personals.

The condition of Congressman Black, of Georgia, continues serious. His illness seems to have taken the form of paralysis. He is unable to move in bed or feed himself. His mind continues bright.

Senator Brown, of Georgia, is expected back. His health is much improved.

Ex-Secretary Blaine's Intentions.

Ex-Secretary Blaine has made known to some intimate personal friends his intention to go to Europe and spend one or two years, leaving his political interests in the hands of Hale and Chandler, providing the latter does not conclude his position in the cabinet forbids him from exercising the same active interest in Blaine's future as in the past.

Hoar's Opinion of Worthington's Nomination.

Senator Hoar, in conversation with J. B. Alley to-day, said he had no doubt that Worthington would be confirmed as collector of Boston. He said he had placed himself on record in the matter, and if republican senators chose under the circumstances to inaugurate political revolution in the civil service, theirs must be the responsibility.

Meets with Opposition.

The bill creating a department of agriculture will have a hard time in the senate. Few representatives felt willing to vote against it, as they are too near the farmers, but senators will not be afraid to criticise the bill, which many claim is purely in the interest of Loring. It is believed the bill will finally pass, but probably much amended.

A New Sugar Bill.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The Evening Post's Washington special says: Representatives of Louisiana sugar interests and of refiners who are not in the Havemeyer combination have agreed upon a new sugar bill, which was introduced by Gibson of Louisiana yesterday. It provides that the secretary of the treasury shall select and procure the Dutch standards of sugar, and cause their saccharine strength to be ascertained, and when [illegible] the duty shall be collected according to the strength and according to the color. It is not known whether those who have been such strenuous supporters of the existing Dutch standard will approve of this change in the existing law.

Tariff on Sugar.

Hon. Archibald M. Bliss appeared before the ways and means committee to-day in advocacy of the new law relating to bonded sugars and insisted that sugars shall pay duties upon quantities deposited in bond. He showed that under the present system importers of raw sugars lose on an average $100 on every 800 barrels, which is greatly to the injury of that trade, embracing large capital and thousands of laborers.

Political Notes.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Missouri republicans say, in spite of democratic gerrymandering, the party will likely gain two or three members of congress in the state.

C. E. Jenkins sold 240 acres of railroad land five miles from Weston for $2000.

The contract for building the new Presbyterian church at Albany has been let to James Daniels for $5500.

St. Mary's hospital, Astoria, is crowded to its utmost capacity, there being 40 patients under treatment. In view of the increased demand for hospital room the Sisters intend, as soon as possible, to add a wing to the north side of the building.

Eastern Oregon.

The directors of the Dalles school district intend to build a two-story school house of the latest style of architecture. When completed, it will be the handsomest public school building in Eastern Oregon.

Thomas Gilmore of Rockland states that the wire worm is doing considerable damage in his vicinity. Some portions of the growing crops, he says, are entirely destroyed by this insect. At first it feeds upon the juice in the stalk, and then burrows down the root and completes its work there.

HUMAN HUMBUGS.

Some Significant Statements Silencing Skeptics.

CHICAGO'S CURIOUSLY COMPLICATED CLIMATIC CHANGES.

Bringing Baneful Burdens to Benighted Beings here Below—Interesting Investigations.

CHICAGO, Ill.—The growing number of Human Humbugs, so called, seeking publicity through the public press, and in consequence, popular adoption, induced the Tribune of this city to institute reportorial investigation, the substance of which is given below. As will readily be seen, the result was a triumphant vindication of the most exalted claims of the article reporting which the researches were made. The publishers say:

"One thing should be thoroughly understood by readers. It is the fact that a newspaper vouches simply for the nature of the matter furnished by its patrons. This, of course, does not preclude the publication of extravagant and even unwarranted statements; a proper apprehension of this fact might often prevent such experiences as have led to a wholesale and unjust denunciation of the advertising public. That in this age of progress and invention much which seems doubtful upon its face is in reality founded upon fact would appear from the following: The wonderful results said to have been secured by an article now very generally before the public led a Tribune reporter to make numerous interviews, the result of which is herewith given. Mr. D. B. Cooke, who was at one time a member of the extensive book and stationery establishment of Keen, Cooke & Co., of this city, but who is at present the purchasing agent of the American Express Company, was visited in his private office in the building of that concern on Monroe street. Mr. Cooke said that he would gladly bear testimony to the efficacy of St. Jacobs Oil in a very stubborn case of rheumatism. The patient was a very old lady, and she had such decided objections to publicity of any kind that she would not allow her name to be published. She had suffered for years with inflammatory rheumatism, and had spent a large amount of money on medicine and medical attendance. Hearing of St. Jacobs Oil, she requested Mr. Cooke to get her a bottle of it; he did so. The relief obtained was almost instantaneous, and the old lady (her age is 81 years) a day or two ago stated that she felt so strong and lively that if she had a mind to, she could dance with as much ease as when she was a girl. The reporter expressed a very strong desire to publish the name of the old lady, but Mr. Cooke said that she would not, under any circumstances, permit it, though if any person desired to do so, they could call on him, when he would provide them with the fullest particulars in the case. Having heard the name of Mr. Wesley Sisson, a well known lawyer of this city, mentioned in connection with a wonderful cure, the reporter visited him at his office, at No. 109 Washington street. The statement which the reporter heard here was so wonderful that, had it come from a less reliable source, it would have been deemed hardly trustworthy. The gentleman stated that during the summer months he paid a visit to Mobile, Alabama, and that, while there he must have become affected by the malarial vapors which abound on the gulf coast, as after his arrival home three months ago, he took sick with the rheumatism. The malady attacked him in the back and thighs, where it was sciatic in its nature, and in the arms and shoulders where it was of the inflammatory type. After weeks of agony which three successively called doctors failed to cure, he was recommended to use St. Jacobs Oil, and, after much opposition on his part, as he did not believe that any externally applied remedy could help so stubborn and serious a case, he concluded and sent for a couple of bottles. The sciatic pains which arising in the base of the backbone, extended through the muscles of both legs and into the knee, were caused by the slightest attempt of his to move in bed, while his arms and shoulders were so affected that he could not even feed himself. The first application of the new remedy ended the trouble in the shoulder and brought slight relief to the sciatic pains. After two bottles had been used a further marked improvement was felt, and in another week he was cured and able to go to his business—thirty pounds lighter in weight than when he was first attacked with sickness; but thanks to four bottles of St. Jacobs Oil, a well man. Mr. Sisson was enthusiastic in his laudation of the remedy which he hoped would be sought by all who were suffering as he had been, and said that he could not find words in which to express his gratitude for his cure. At the same time he produced a letter which he had written to Messrs. A. Vogeler & Co., the proprietors of the remedy, describing the wonderful nature of his cure, the closing paragraph of which ran as follows: 'If any person afflicted as I was desires a stronger testimonial, I shall tell them if they call upon me, to give St. Jacobs Oil a fair trial, and I now feel as though I could assure them the same grateful and speedy relief that I have experienced.' It should be added that Mr. Sisson had vainly tried a variety of complicated and painful treatments in the form of baths, cuppings, etc., which had brought no relief, and that he was on the point of going to Hot Springs when he was induced to try St. Jacobs Oil, with the happy results already described. At the residence of Otto Winther, No. 246 Wabash avenue, cashier for four years for Mr. Ira Brown, the well-known real estate man, the news-gatherer found further evidences of the curative power of the wonderful remedy. Mr. Winther said that a fortnight ago he had a very sharp attack of rheumatism in the legs, which disabled him from attending to his duties. Medical attendance had failed to do him any good, and when a friend recommended St. Jacobs Oil to him he at once tried a bottle, and with absolutely immediate benefit, which has been lasting, no symptoms of the trouble having recurred since. He thought, though, that the case of Miss Mugan, a girl living with a family in the same building, was, at least, equally remarkable. Miss Mugan had for several days been suffering from neuralgia in its most terrible form. The agony, which rendered her almost crazy, gave way to none of a number of remedies used, until, by Mr. Winther's advice, the wonderful Oil was applied, when a perfect and lasting banishment of the pain was accomplished in less than five minutes. Mr. Winther is an intelligent and educated gentleman, who speaks five different languages fluently, and whose indorsement of the remedy is that of a man who knows thoroughly what he is speaking about. Prof. Edward Holst, the pianist and composer, who resides in the same building, stated that some weeks ago he was attacked with catarrh of the throat of a most malignant form. He was entirely disabled from visiting his pupils, and the sufferings from the disorder was intense. He summoned medical attendance and tried a number of remedies in vain, when a few applications of the Oil effected a rapid and thorough removal of the disease. Mme. Marie Salvotti, the famous prima donna who charmed the audience of the Wilhelmj charity concert, a few weeks ago, and who, it is understood, intends accompanying that famous violinist upon his tour to California, gave the following testimony on behalf of the remedy: 'Having repeatedly had occasion to seek relief in cases of neuralgic and rheumatic pains, as well as when suffering from troublesome sore throat, I find after vainly trying many remedies, that nothing can compare with St. Jacobs Oil as a prompt and reliable cure for the ailments named. A number of my professional friends, who have experienced the satisfactory results, keep it as a traveling companion, and are also enthusiastic in its praise.'

"Taking in view the number of testimonials in support of the efficacy of St. Jacobs Oil and the high character of those supplying them, the inference is irresistible that the remedy is the most remarkable for such diseases as have been mentioned in the above interviews, that has yet been discovered, and considering their value as a guide and suggestion to suffering humanity there is nothing unmercantile or unprofessional in advertising the article. The above ought to recommend it to the confidence of all our citizens."

BLAINE AND THE INVESTIGATION.

All intelligent Americans who have read the reports of Mr. Blaine's examination before the house committee investigating the South American affair, whether they have high or low estimates of his statesmanship, will agree that such a bemuddled chapter of diplomatic history has seldom been told by the chief actor in its course with such clearness, conciseness, vigor and interest. Before the bright light that he has thrown on the burning shame of the surrender of the positions he had taken in behalf of American interests in South America, the fogs of falsehood and misconception that have obscured the facts of history have been dissipated completely, and only those who are incurably prejudiced can fail to see that, however much inclined Mr. Blaine may have been to make "political capital" out of his policy, his actual record was within the beaten tracks of safe precedents of predecessors whom no one would accuse of being "hare-brained" or "sensational."

Careful readers of Mr. Blaine's testimony will see that while he is always and pre-eminently a politician, and sometimes makes his conservative friends fear lest his dash may get him or the country into trouble, his official action is that of one of the clearest-headed and most practical men who ever sat in the department of state. The opening part of Mr. Blaine's testimony finely illustrates this. With his usual directness he went straight to the very point to which we have just referred, and said that there "has been no misapprehension in the press more widespread than that I had assumed the right, acting as president de facto, to plunge the government into certain policies while the president was on his back and unable to direct affairs. So far from that the diplomatic correspondence, when fully published, will show (and that which has been already published does show) that there was no decisive action whatever taken during the president's illness in regard to South American affairs, nor in regard to any other field where the diplomacy of the administration was called into action. There was possibly one exception (not a grave and important one) that will be forthcoming in the publication of the dispatches relating to Venezuela. These dispatches, although written during the president's illness, were entirely talked over, and talked over several times, between myself and the president before the assassination, and I knew that in what I did I was carrying out with great explicitness the views of the president."

In regard to the circular letter issued by him as to the inter-oceanic canal, Mr Blaine explained that as this was sent to all the governments of Europe, it was not proper that it should contain any reference to the one great obstacle to our present policy, the Clayton Bulwer treaty. "But the paper about the treaty was blocked out, and so far blocked out that the president and myself had gone over the points to be presented, and the notes were full upon it. But that paper, when the president was shot, was laid aside and never was withdrawn from the pigeonhole until President Arthur had been thirty or forty days in the exercise of the presidency, and was sent weeks afterward, by reason of the president's authority to do it. I give that as an illustration of a very important point, which is also true in regard to the Peruvian and South American question, and which is, that no important action was taken upon any material point whatever without the direct consent and knowledge of one or the other of the two presidents. I want to make that statement as broad as language can make it."

As to the instructions to Mr. Trescot, which have been so much assailed and misrepresented by ill-informed, unwise or reckless enemies of Mr. Blaine, the ex-secretary came prepared with a full and exact record, which showed the care he took in getting instructions from President Arthur and obeying them. This record cannot be gainsaid. It is Mr. Blaine's own original draft of the instructions, with Mr. Trescot's additions, as submitted to the president, who has his own foolish organs to thank for compelling Mr. Blaine to explain in detail, before a house committee and the country, the changes which he was compelled to make by his official superior. As to these changes Mr. Blaine testified: "For instance, on the fourteenth page the original draft read, 'If our present information is correct, immediately on the receipt of that communication which was transmitted over the lines of telegraph under the control of the Chilian authorities, they arrested President Calderon, and thus, so far as was in their power, extinguished his government.' The president suggested a doubt that was indirectly an accusation that the Chilian authorities had tampered with an official telegram of the United States, and I admit that it was that, and I admit that it was intended to mean that. (Laughter.) And we need not have been so delicate about it, because since then the Chilian authorities have been tampering with our mails. Probably the president himself would not be so delicate to-day about it, inasmuch as United States vessels of war cannot receive their mails from a steamer except with a vise and under the instruction of a Chilian corporal."

Mr. Blaine, however, was careful to make a distinction between the president and the latter's "foolfriends." He did not believe that the president ever suggested that Mr. Blaine had altered instructions, and adds: "That is the identical dispatch, word for word, as he approved it, and which afterward (for reasons, of course, satisfactory to himself) he largely revoked. For the president's change of mind I am, of course, not responsible; but that I ever interpolated a word or a line or a syllable or an idea in that dispatch is as absolutely false as any statement that ever was made; just as false as the statement which has gone over the country that during the president's illness I was blocking out a great foreign policy and precipitating it upon the country between the lives of two presidents. Both of them are without the slightest foundation in fact whatever."

Mr. Blaine's testimony might be quoted to the extent of many columns to the confusion of his traducers, but it is not necessary. It is evident that this whole pretense of investigation has been carried on with the purpose of putting the ex-secretary before the country in a bad and false light. The country will enjoy its failure. His scheme of neighborship of American nations with the United States as the chief and controlling power was a grand one. It was the great purpose of a great statesman. It was a plan to increase our national dignity and authority, and the responsibility and blame of its obstruction and failure should be put where they belong.

An amusing incident of Mr. Blaine's testimony before the committee, is the manner in which he snubbed, spanked and exposed young Mr. Belmont. But it is of no serious value, save in showing that, as the elephant can with ease pick up a pin and pull down a house, so Mr. Blaine can in the same hour clear up and condense an important chapter of diplomatic history and adjust himself to the sport of playfully tossing up in the air a vealy statesman.

THE OREGONIAN presents this morning crop reports from every grain-growing section of Oregon and Washington. They are from reliable sources, the results of careful inquiry, and may be relied upon. Fields everywhere are in prime condition. The acreage sown in the western part of the state is ten per cent. greater than last year, and Eastern Oregon and Washington report the enormous increase of fifty per cent. From these reports it is fair to estimate that Oregon and Washington will have 415,000 tons of wheat to sell this fall.

STATES AT LAW.

The question whether one state may sue another for a money claim, assigned to the plaintiff state by its citizens, is about to be tested in a suit brought by the state of New York against the state of Louisiana. The case has risen, according to the Herald, from a recent amendment to the constitution of Louisiana, by which that state "remitted" the interest on certain of its bonds, many of which are held by citizens of New York. These claims were assigned to the state of New York under an act of its legislature. Commenting on the case, the Herald narrates the following interesting chapter of constitutional history:

> As originally drawn, the federal constitution provided that the judicial power of the United States should extend to "controversies between two or more states" and "between a state and citizens of another state." Soon after the adoption of the constitution, the supreme court decided that under the provision last quoted, a state might be sued in the federal court by a citizen of another state on a money demand. This decision caused no little dissatisfaction among the state rights politicians of that day, who felt that the right of an individual to enforce a pecuniary claim against a state was not compatible with true state sovereignty. Consequently the eleventh amendment to the constitution was adopted prohibiting a suit from being brought against a state by the citizens of another state. Under the constitution as thus amended, it seems to be clear that one state may be sued on a money demand in the supreme court by another state, but not by the citizens of another. The question that the court is now called upon to determine is whether a suit may be maintained by a state on a money claim assigned to it by one of its citizens. The constitution bars the citizen from bringing such action. Does it bar also the claim when held by the state?

This is a question of great importance, as determining whether or not a state enjoys the privilege of repudiating its financial obligations with impunity. Should New York be successful in her claims, efforts will be made at once to bring several more repudiating states to justice. Whatever state sovereignty may still exist in the constitution, it is earnestly to be hoped that the sovereign prerogative of a state to make a swindler and a thief of itself has ceased to exist.

THE MISSOURI GERRYMANDER.

The Missouri democracy has one merit. It is not mealy-mouthed, but out-spoken. It is so, doubtless, because it feels its strength, and therefore does not consider itself bound to regard even the decencies of political life. The Sedalia Democrat—the central organ of the party in that state, and one which is doing so much just now to elevate the outlaw Jesse James to the rank of a tutelar saint—availing itself of the coming together of the Missouri legislature for the purpose of redistricting the state for the election of congressmen, thus takes occasion to preach the gospel of gerrymander:

> Whatever will secure a gain of one member of congress; make one doubtful state less doubtful; obtain any advantage anywhere, no matter how slight or trivial; cause any dissatisfaction anywhere in democratic ranks, no matter how circumscribed or unimportant—that the republican party does with an eagerness and enthusiasm that amounts almost to a religious fervor. So resolute is it in accomplishing its purposes, no matter what they are, that it never imagines for a moment that it has either to explain, qualify or apologize. Nor does it. It goes right onward, conquering and to conquer. In the face, therefore, of such an organization as this, the democratic party has but one single thing to do. Fight the devil with fire. Meet gerrymander with gerrymander. Give blow for blow. What power is possessed, use it. Use it with an eye single to results. Make no excuses. Explain nothing. Have but one object in view—fourteen democratic congressmen from Missouri.

Some apology was needed for the open avowal of an unconstitutional use of the legislative power, and this was found in the assertion that the legislatures of republican states were doing the same thing in the interest of the republican party; but the depraved are always fruitful in apologies, even if they have to invent them.

The danger in relying wholly on circumstantial evidence in the trial and punishment of suspected criminals is illustrated in the case of a coachman in Brooklyn. He was arrested last fall on a charge of sending obscene letters to a member of Judge Dailey's family. He protested his innocence, but on the evidence of experts he was convicted and sentenced to a year's imprisonment and to pay a heavy fine. Notwithstanding his confinement behind prison doors and walls the obscene letters continue, thus showing conclusively that he did not write any of them and that he has been unjustly punished. He is still in prison, however, and serving out his sentence the same as though he had been guilty.

Consumption has been known to be a communicable or contagious disease for more than twenty-five years, and the highest medical and microscopical talent has been engaged in the endeavor to discover the contagious principle. Late dispatches from London state that Prof. Tyndall has confirmed the results of experiments made by Dr. Koch, of Berlin, determining the exact nature of the parasite causing tuberculosis. He has propagated it artificially and expects to develop a harmless form of the tubercular parasite which, by inoculation, may prevent consumption, as smallpox is prevented by vaccination.

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad is probably able to make the best report of any railroad corporation operating in this country. The gross earnings were $12,584,504, and the net income $4,546,682. But this showing is still within the just limit of the credits, for a large amount of earnings was used for improvement. During the year three cash dividends of 5½ per cent. each were declared.

Who can say that the Chinese is not becoming civilized? Last Tuesday, Hing Loong, representing a large number of his fellow countrymen, petitioned the Mayor, etc., of New Orleans, to issue licenses to Chinamen to keep houses for smoking opium. The local papers call this "Chinese cheek," but John puts his finger to his nose, and winks his appreciation of the opening for a good business.

"I have been censured," said Mr. Blaine, "for not kicking Shipherd out of my house the first morning he called, but when a man comes introduced by a United States senator, with three ex-senators and an ex-secretary of the treasury as counsel, and an array of backers such as he mentioned, I might possibly be excused for not immediately kicking him out."

We are requested by the chairman of the republican state committee to say that Hon. Rufus Mallory would have visited Jackson and Josephine counties in the interest of the party but for business engagements which will soon call him from the state.

FALL OF A SCAFFOLDING.—At 9 o'clock yesterday morning a line of scaffolding at the second story on the south wall of Thompson & Dekum's new block, corner Front and Oak streets, fell, and with it four men who were precipitated a distance of twenty feet. Patrick Kearney received a severe scalp wound and bruises on the body. He was taken to his home, corner of Eleventh and I streets, and examination showed that his injuries were not dangerous. He expects to be out in a few days. James Kerrigan, who lives at the corner of Ninth and I, was bruised about the head and legs, but not seriously. The two others, Cornelius Sullivan and John Cahill, escaped with slight bruises, and resumed work after dinner. The scaffold was laid upon the second story joists, which were temporarily supported by 2x8 studding, and the workmen were engaged in removing bricks from the sidewalk scaffolding and throwing them on the scaffold. Instructions were given by Mr. Houchton, the brickwork contractor, that only one man should engage in removing bricks, while the remainder should remove them from the scaffold. This order was not carried out, and about eight tons of bricks were allowed to accumulate. This weight was too much for the supports, which gave way. Damage to the building will be about $150, and falls on the contractors.

THE RUSSIAN HEBREWS.—Mr. A. Frey and four associates representing a colony of Russian Hebrew refugees, arrived by the last steamer and left Wednesday morning for the "Inland Empire." They will visit in company with a guide furnished by the Northern Pacific railroad the Colville valley, the region bordering the Cœur d'Alene and the Palouse country, to select 5000 acres to be settled by the colony. They come under the auspices of the American Hebrew Immigration society of New York and with the special commendation of Henry Villard, who has offered them land on very favorable terms, and agreed to advance $500 for improvements on every section of land cultivated. The managing board of the immigration society think the plan of colonization to be the better one for the refugees. As soon as a location shall have been selected, seventy adults including a few women, will start from New York to their destination. Except two carpenters, one blacksmith and one saddler, all the immigrants are farmers.

THE "WM. TABOR" REVIVES.—The San Francisco Call of recent date has the following: "It is stated that the old-time steamship Wm. Tabor, which has been lying idle for years at Rio Vista, has been refitted and is about to go into service once more in her old role as an opposition steamer—this time in the California and Mexican coast trade. She has twice before, as an opposition boat, been bought off by the regular lines up and down the coast, and was at last subsidized to keep out of service altogether. Her old instincts have asserted themselves again, and she will doubtless be ready for another subsidy before long."

PLEASANT EXCURSION PROMISED.—Those who desire to visit the Cascades, and in addition to the unsurpassed scenery, witness the railroad work, will find fitting opportunity on the excursion by the steamer City of Salem to-morrow. The boat will leave the foot of Yamhill st. at 8:30 A. M. and call at Vancouver at 9:30. The affair is in the hands of ladies and gentlemen who are certain to make it pleasant for the attendants. Further particulars and tickets can be obtained of Mr. Chas. A. M. Myers at the Home Mutual Insurance office, corner of First and Stark.

SLIGHT FIRES.—About half-past four yesterday afternoon, fire was discovered in one of the upper rooms of the Nicolai House, corner Third and D streets. An alarm was turned in by Watchman Wm. O'Donnell, from box 15, and promptly responded to, but the services of the department were not needed, as the blaze was extinguished with buckets of water. At six o'clock, a fire broke out in the roof of a shed adjoining Smith Bros. & Watson's iron works, which was extinguished by the workmen. No alarm was sounded. Damage at both is trifling.

ELLSWORTH POST'S SOCIAL.—The sociable and supper given by Ellsworth Post, Vancouver, on Wednesday evening last, was a grand financial success. The comrades desire through THE OREGONIAN to thank their many friends in Vancouver and garrison for their generous contributions of the table necessaries and for their kind patronage. Especially do they thank the ladies who so faithfully attended to the tables from first to last. Stoneman Post, G. A. R., of Portland, was represented.

SUIT BETWEEN CONTRACTORS.—The state circuit court is engaged in a jury trial of the case of E. F. Hymason against Thompson, Smith & Co. The defendants had taken the contract last year for clearing the O. R. & N. Co.'s route from Portland to The Dalles, and 10 miles was sub-let to the plaintiff, who claims that Thompson & Co. did not pay him the amount due. The defendants claim that Humason abandoned the contract, left them to finish it and is in debt to them.

SENT HOME.—The wild man Olef Nelson, who was brought in by Justice McIntire and Constable Hill, supposed to be insane, was taken yesterday morning before Judge Rice, who considered him of unsound mind, and finding that he has a place at Rooster Rock and friends living there, thought it best to have him sent home, which was done accordingly. It appears that he came to Portland to purchase seed and flour. He had some Swedish money and other coin amounting to $6 50.

PROPOSED FREE LIBRARY.—A subscription paper is being circulated by members of the Y. M. C. A. of East Portland for the purpose of raising a fund to purchase books for a free library. The association will turn over the books they now have to the new institution. The paper is receiving a number of signatures, and from the substantial interest manifested, the consummation of this worthy object will be realized.

RAILROAD CONTRACT LET.—The contract for clearing right of way, furnishing ties, cordwood, piling, hewing square timber, etc., for the second division of the O. & C. R. R. extension, from Upper Cow creek to tunnel 9, has been awarded to Antone Lefever. Work will be commenced at once, and Mr. Lefever is prepared to furnish employment to all of his former hands who may apply.

LAWRENCE BOUND OVER.—Late yesterday afternoon, Lawrence, the bigamist, was taken before Judge Stott, sitting as committing magistrate, and was bound over to await the action of the Clatsop county grand jury, in the sum of $1000. He was, of course, unable to furnish bonds, and was relegated to the quarters down stairs.

BURGLARS SENTENCED.—Yesterday Ah Jim, one of the Chinamen who robbed Summerfield's store, pleaded guilty in the state circuit court yesterday and was sentenced to four years' imprisonment. Henry Welland, convicted a few days ago of robbery and recommended to mercy got one year.

GRADUATED.—Mr. W. Lang Chapman, son of Dr. J. A. Chapman, graduated day before yesterday at the college of Physicians and Surgeons, New York city, the 13th in a class of 205. So strict are the examinations that 80 out of this number of students were rejected.

OFF THE TRACK.—Wednesday morning an eastbound freight train on the O. R. & N. railroad, left the track near Deschutes, and the engine and five cars were ditched. The engine was badly damaged. No one was injured.

CHILDREN'S SOCIAL.—To-night, instead of the regular encampment, a social will be given to the children of members of George Wright Post, G. A. R. On this occasion, colors will be presented to the newly organized Portland Light Guard.

MINING CLAIM.—J. F. Parker and J. DeBoest filed notice with the county clerk yesterday of a mining claim at Rooster Rock.

BODY RECOVERED.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

ALBANY, Or., May 11.—The body of Ward B. Adair was recovered from the Calapooia just below Foster's mill. An explosion of giant powder threw the body across a rope, which caught under the arm, and by which it was brought to the surface. Dr. Davis, the coroner, held an inquest, and the jury gave a verdict in accordance with the facts as reported. Mrs. Adair, the mother, and other sorrowing friends will accompany the remains by the noon train to-morrow to Salem for burial.

PROF. VARNEY'S GERMAN.

While Prof. Varney, and the ladies having the matter in charge, were anxious to postpone their entertainment from Friday to Saturday evening, they now find that their arrangements were too far completed to change, and consequently the German will be held on Friday, as originally announced by invitations.

MERCHANTS.

Take notice that I have entered into manufacturing Dolmans for the trade, and I will give duplicate figures on Dolmans bought on the coast. Price list sent, and terms are regular as other wholesale houses.

CROP PROSPECTS.

Indications for a Great Grain Yield this Season—Reports from all Wheat Sections.

The reports which follow show a most flattering condition of crops throughout the country. THE OREGONIAN'S correspondents throughout western Oregon have supplied the reports from that section, and those from eastern Oregon and Washington are kindly furnished by Mr. John Muir, superintendent of traffic of the O. R. & N. and N. P. lines, who secured them from reliable parties.

THE WILLAMETTE VALLEY.

Clackamas County.

OREGON CITY, May 9.—Reports from all sections of the county show that the acreage this year is about 10 per cent larger than last. Fall sown wheat looks unusually fine, as well as it did at the same time last year. Of the spring crop it is not easy to form an estimate. Late rains have somewhat delayed seeding, but with favorable weather from this time forward, a full crop may be safely anticipated.

Washington County.

HILLSBORO, May 8.—The acreage of wheat in this county will probably not exceed that of last year. A majority of farmers estimate that fall grain promises at least 100 per cent. better than at this time last year. About the same ... more land is under cultivation this year than last, but that increase has been seeded to grass in which clover largely preponderates. The crop of potatoes will largely exceed that of last year, while cattle, sheep and hogs will show a small increase.

Linn County.

ALBANY, May 10.—After careful inquiry concerning the wheat prospect in Linn county, I have to report as follows:

1. Last year the yield of wheat was about 2,000,000 bushels for this county. This year, under the most favorable circumstances that can now occur, the yield will not be by 25 per cent. as large as last year.

2. The cause of this prospective decrease is not that the wheat sown does not promise well—all the fall wheat looks remarkably fine. But the fact is, that the acreage of wheat sown is fully one-fourth, if not one-third less at this date than it was last year. Linn county is largely made up of extensive prairie. The most of this flat land, owing to the early fall rains and late continued spring rains, has up to this month been too wet for sowing. If the weather should remain favorable for the next ten days, much grain may yet be sown.

3. The demand for oats and the good price they bring, has disposed many farmers to put in more oats than usual. Others, despairing on account of the lateness of the season, will summer fallow their ground and be thus the gainers another year.

4. Should the next ten days prove to be rainy, much apprehension will be felt lest the result be that rust will strike the fall sown wheat and prove somewhat disastrous.

Yamhill County.

LAFAYETTE, May 9.—Our assessor, who has been over the principal portion of the county within the past 30 days, says that Yamhill county has 11,000 acres under cultivation, 60,000 of which is in grain in good condition, looking fully as well if not better than it did last year at this time. If nothing happens the grain will average 20 bushels to the acre. Fall wheat looks especially fine; some as much as 10 to 14 inches high.

Lane County.

EUGENE CITY, May 8.—It is estimated that Lane county had 58,000 acres in wheat, at an average of 15 bushels per acre, or 870,000 bushels, last year. There is probably 10 per cent. increase this present year in acreage, and the prospects for a good crop of fall sown grain are very flattering. Spring sowing is not all completed as yet, but late sowing, with the recent growing showers, have taken a good start, and the yield will probably be, at the least calculation, as good as last year, provided we escape from rust. The present spring, although rather wet, has been altogether the best growing season experienced in this county for many years.

Benton County.

CORVALLIS, May 8.—The acreage of wheat this year is at least 10 per cent. greater than last. The prospect for crops was never better at this season of year. Every indication points to a full crop. I gather the above from reliable farmers from various portions of the county. All are sanguine of a very good harvest.

The increase of acreage of 1880 and 1881 over 1879, as shown by the census, is not less than 10 per cent. for the two years, which will make this year's increase 30 per cent. over 1879. The corresponding increase of product, however, would be much greater, as 1879 was the "rusty" year.

Marion County.

SALEM, May 11.—As compared with the acreage of last year the prospect is for an increase of at least 10 per cent. The prospect of a crop, as compared with the same time last year, is not so good, but it must be remembered that the season is all of a month later than last year. All the farmers I have talked with, with one single exception, speak of the prospects as good, and look forward for, not only a full crop, but a heavy one. The fall wheat has not made anything like the growth it did last year, hence they argue there will be more grain and not so much straw. There is a large acreage of spring wheat to be sown yet. That sown through the winter and early this spring looks well. Fall wheat on low ground is slightly damaged by frost. The opinion generally is that this harvest from all prospects will be fully up to last, and probably a little in advance.

THE "INLAND EMPIRE."

Klickitat County.

GOLDENDALE, May 5.—At last the seeding is about through with in this valley, and the farmers can haul what little wheat is left to Columbus. I have made a tour through the valley, and find that the farmers have sown a great deal more wheat than the previous year, fully 50 per cent. A large proportion of the old grain has been used for seeding. My opinion is that there will be at least between six and eight thousand tons of export wheat from this county.

THE DALLES, May 10.—From observation and information gathered upon an extended trip through Yakima and Klickitat counties, I find there is more than a half more of wheat acreage this year than last in Klickitat county. The farmers are jubilant over the prospects of a good crop. The surplus in Yakima county will not be so great in consequence of lack of facilities to move it out.

Wasco County.

THE DALLES, May 10.—Extending from Des Chutes to John Day river, and from the Columbia southward a distance of 30 miles, I report:

First—The acreage of wheat is about 5000.

Second—The acreage is about four times as large as last year.

Third—The condition of the crop is about the same as this time last year, being then light, for it was the first crop of the sod.

Fourth—Promises two-thirds of a crop, full crop being 25 bushels.

Fifth—The past winter has been somewhat too dry to insure a heavy crop; some of the fall-sown wheat killed by the late frosts this spring.

Umatilla County.

BLUE MOUNTAIN, May 9.—Wheat acreage about 40,000. Including that of voluntary crop the acreage will fully equal that of last season. Present indication of crops promise a yield that will compare favorably with that of last year. As there has been a copious fall of rain this spring, grain is more moist than this time a year ago, consequently we may expect a bountiful yield, provided no unforeseen accident intervenes. I learn that a large amount of land has been summer fallowed this year, and preparations going forward to sow a larger acreage of wheat than any season previous. N[illegible] in this vicinity.

CENTREVILLE, May 9.—I have been riding over the country considerably for the last month, and from what I see and learn I should judge that the coming harvest there will be from two-thirds to three-fourths as much more grain as last harvest. The volunteer crop looks well, although it is killed out in some localities; the spring has been backward. I find that some farmers who are perhaps somewhat over sanguine, estimate the acreage at over 60,000. I think this fully one-third too high.

WESTON, May 8.—The acreage of wheat in Umatilla county is between 35,000 and 40,000 above what will be required for home consumption and seeding for next year. The acreage, including volunteer, is equal to or greater than last year. From present indications there is reason to expect a good harvest. The prospects are better than this time last year. There is more moisture in the ground now than this time last year, and therefore, everything being equal, we expect equally as good a yield.

PENDLETON, May 9.—There are about five townships in cultivation which will probably ship their surplus from this or neighboring stations. The acreage sown is probably 25 per cent higher than last year. There are numerous wheat fields scattered through other townships which are tributary to this place—enough to make up for any over estimate there may be in assuming that one-half of the five townships mentioned had been one-half sown. The outlook for all crops is good thus far, and if the favorable weather continues the surplus may reach 800,000 bushels.

MOUNT HOOD(?), May 9.—There is about 4000 acres sown in wheat in this locality. The acreage is about one-half more than last season. The prospect for a crop is about the same as last year. If we have favorable weather from this time on, we are assured a good crop. A great deal of grain sown last fall was put in with broadcast seeders, and was partially frozen out during the winter. All the grain that was drilled in is looking splendid, and I think from present indications it ought to yield in the neighborhood of 35 bushels per acre. The broadcast will probably yield 10 bushels less than the drilled.

Walla Walla Co.

DRY CREEK, May 9.—I have no means of knowing the exact number of acres of wheat sown. I think there are about the same number as last year, taking into account the newly broken land. There will be a large amount of old land summer fallowed this season. Looking at the condition of the crop prospects on the whole, I think that we will have a full average yield, which is about 25 to 30 bushels per acre. The farmers in this vicinity are preparing to plant a considerable amount of corn, which, if properly cultivated and handled, will be quite as remunerative as small grain. We have had an abundance of rain and the ground is wet to a greater depth than usual. The fruit crop will, if it meets with no accident, be very large, especially the apple, pear and plum crop. Peaches will not be very good.

WALLA WALLA, May 9.—My observation is limited to the southeast of the county. The spring has been cold and backward, which prevented many farmers having their ploughing done in season. I think nearly one-half last season's wheat ground will be left to the chance of a voluntary crop. I think there is 25 per cent. more in wheat and fully 50 per cent. more flax than there was sown the season before. There is a larger amount of prairie ground being turned over this season than there was last year. But farmers are feeling more cheerful.

WAITSBURG, May 9.—The prospect for a full yield are better than one year ago. The critical time, however, of the crop is from the 15th of May to the 10th of June, and with an occasional shower during this time the crop will be assured. I do not even know that it is necessary this season from the fact of the copious rain that we have had.

Columbia County.

DAYTON, May 9.—I cannot get the number of acres under cultivation. There is no disguising the acreage is fully one-third larger than last year. The season is about ten days backward. The conditions are very favorable for a good crop. Plenty of rain and snow have fallen to keep it in good order. The condition of things is very favorable and every one is hopeful and encouraged.

RITZVILLE(?), May 9.—There is nothing raised in this immediate vicinity. From what I am able to learn from counties above here, viz., Garfield, Whitman and Nez Perce, in Idaho, all the crops look well at present and promise a good yield. It is generally supposed there will be from one-third to one-half more raised this year than last. This season is more backward than last year.

NEW YORK FLAT(?), May 8.—The acreage of wheat will yield between six and seven thousand tons for this part of the country, which is that portion of Garfield county known as the Pataha Flat and part of the upper Deadman country that lies north of Pataha City and all of the Pataha creek west of and including the vicinity of Pomeroy, and what is known as Falling Spring country. The prospect is fully as good as last year. The spring has been late, but we are having nice growing weather now and plenty of rain, which bids fair to make a good crop. I cannot give you quite such a large yield as last year, but I think I am safe in saying that the crop will average twenty bushels per acre.

Whitman County.

[illegible], May 9.—As will be seen I am in the extreme southwest part of Whitman county, and in what is considered the most productive portion of the county which is called the Palouse country. The acreage is small within ten miles of Ritzville. The acreage as compared with last year is about 300 per cent greater. The crops compared with last year are far better. The prospects for a full crop are flattering, having had warm spring rains at intervals of three or four days during the entire season. The yield compared with last year will be larger.

Spokane County.

CHENEY, May 9.—The acreage in this vicinity is nearly double that of last year. The wheat acreage will probably be 15,000. In a conversation with one of the prominent and most intelligent citizens of Walla Walla he estimates the wheat acreage of Walla Walla county at 85,000, Columbia county at 20,000, and Garfield at 20,000. The party referred to considers that the surplus for export will be fully fifty per cent. above that of last year. This would indicate an increase of more than fifty per cent. in the yield, from the fact that a very large amount will be retained for seeding.

The total estimated surplus of the Columbia river basin will not fall far short of 240,000 tons. Rainfall has been very copious this spring.

IDAHO TERRITORY.

LEWISTON, May 7.—The estimated acreage within a radius of ten miles of this place is as follows: Wheat, 17,500; flax, 12,000; oats and barley, 11,000. These estimates are as near correct as it is possible to make them, and it is safe to say that where actual counts have been made the acreage has been under-estimated. There will also be considerable acreage in the Big Potlatch country, but as a heavy immigration is setting in there I have taken no account of that section, as the new comers may fully absorb the entire surplus.

GENESEE, May 6.—As near as I can ascertain there will be 850 acres sown to flax in township 37, range 4. It will be about one-third of the grain sown. Township 38, range 5, flax, 550 acres; wheat, 850 acres; oats, 150; barley, not enough to mention. In township 38 there is about 1130 acres of land, of which about 1015 will be sown in flax, 2000 in wheat and last in oats and barley.

From the foregoing reports, which are as trustworthy and accurate as could be obtained, it is estimated that the surplus of the Willamette valley wheat will be 230,000 tons, and that of Eastern Oregon and Washington 185,000 tons, a total of 415,000 tons. The surplus last year was, Valley, 210,000 tons; Eastern Oregon and Washington, 110,000 tons.

OH, SHAME ON THEM!

The little tricks and misrepresentations that some business men in Portland practice is really disgusting. A case in point occurred but yesterday. A stranger from Eastern Oregon, having seen several of his friends wear such nice, becoming hats, he naturally inquired where they were got, what they cost, &c., and found out that they all came from Woods the Hatter; hence he then and there resolved when he visited Portland he would call on Woods and get a new hat. Yesterday he came to town, and the first break he made was for what he supposed was Woods the Hatter's store, but unluckily for himself got into the wrong place, through no fault of his own, for he inquired if Woods the Hatter kept there, and the hyenas keeping the place said yes—deliberately lied to an unsophisticated stranger, and all for the sake of robbing him out of a dollar, for that's what he lost by not finding Woods the Hatter in the first place. Now, for the benefit of the readers of THE OREGONIAN living at a distance and intending visiting Portland, we would recommend them to cut out the following and paste it in their pocketbook: Woods the Hatter's store is 143 First street, under the Odd Fellows' Temple, directly opposite the Holton house, and let us add here that Woods keeps the only first-class hat store in Portland.

It don't need an artist to see the difference in Woods the Hatter's styles and the others.

This cold snap isn't going to last. Be sure you get a straw hat of Woods the Hatter before the nice ones are all picked out.

PROCLAMATION.

To the people of the State of Oregon: Whereas I, S. Friedman, of the county of Multnomah, city of Portland, have opened a very choice lot of goods and have offered them to the public at prices that no one can compete with me, and yet some of the people, I am ashamed to say, cannot read, or they would have come and availed themselves of the opportunity of purchasing some of the articles I offer so low, and by their not attending to it and the improving of the street and fixing the street railway, also the building of Ladd's brick opposite my store, on corner of Salmon and First, has kept the travel away from my place of business so that I have more goods on hand than I ought to have by this time and less money, and it is the last named article I have the most use for. I therefore demand of each and every one of you that has coin to come to my place of business and convince yourselves from the low prices of my goods that I mean business. My stock comprises a general variety, and whoever wants goods will not go away on account of prices, and should you fail to respond to this call you will pay a penalty of 25 per cent. by purchasing elsewhere than of me. Respectfully yours,
S. FRIEDMAN,

JONATHAN MILLS GRADUAL REDUCTION PROCESS.

OVER 500 MACHINES IN USE.

The Degerminator Splits the Wheat and removes the germ and seam impurities perfectly. These Reduction Machines granulate the wheat, without cutting or abrading the bran. Guaranteed to make rounder and larger middlings and a greater percentage; also STRONGER and WHITER FLOUR than any other system in use.

A LIBERAL OFFER TO MILLERS.—Knowing the superiority of the Jonathan Mills Degerminator and Reduction Machines for reducing wheat, we submit the following liberal proposition:

We will set aside the Corrugated Rolls and put our machines in their place at our expense, and without making any other changes, we will guarantee Better Results than are now obtained, in this: that from the same quantity and quality of wheat now used per barrel, we will guarantee a larger per centage of Patent Flour of equal quality to that now made; a less per centage of low grade flour, and a Bakers' Flour superior in color and quality to, and worth more money than, the Bakers' Flour now made in the same mills. If we fail to accomplish Better Results as above, we will take out our machines and replace the Rolls, all at our own expense, and, in addition, will forfeit to the miller a cash bonus of $1000 to $10,000, according to the capacity of the mill.

In practical operation at City of Salem Co's Capitol Mills, Salem, Or.,
Who Manufacture Four Grades of Flour from our Machines.

A TEST CROWNED BY VICTORY OVER THE ROLLER SYSTEM.

In January, 1880, McDow & Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, bought the Jonathan Mills Reduction Machines and fitted up their "National Mills" therewith, continuing to use the machines for a year and a half. In August last, 1881, they were asked to set out the Reduction Machines and put in the Corrugated Roller Mills, subject to acceptance after trial, and had their mills re-arranged, at considerable expense, by practical men, skilled in the art of roller milling, aided and backed by all the talent and experience of the manufacturers of Roller Mills. After five months' trial McDow & Co. have thrown out the Corrugated Rolls and put the Jonathan Mills Reduction Machines back into their mill, where they are now in use, because the work of the Jonathan Mills Reduction Machines so far excelled that done by the Rolls.

ON TRIAL WITHOUT EXPENSE to the Miller.—In any mill where Corrugated Rolls are used for reducing wheat, we will put in our machines in place of the Rolls, furnish all shaftings, pulleys, etc., at our own expense, and let the miller run them on trial for 30 days. If the miller chooses to keep them we will charge him the regular price and the actual cost of making the change. If he prefers to keep the Rolls we will take out the machines and replace the Rolls as before, thus insuring the miller a satisfactory trial in his own mill, and without any expense. CHANGE OF SEX.

A Well Authenticated Freak of Nature—Woman vs. Man.

A letter from Erie, Pa., tells the following almost incredible story, vouched for by eight respectable citizens, of the transformation of a girl just as she was reaching maturity, into a young man. It appears that William P. Baxter is the owner of a large farm situated between northeast Pennsylvania and Ripley, N. Y. He is frequently in Erie, where he is well known. Near the Baxter farm there lives a family by the name of Fear, highly respected by their neighbors. About twenty-five years ago there was born in this family a girl who became a general pet in the neighborhood. They named her Rosa, and she grew up a lovely child, and in due time was sent to school. She distinguished herself there by most extraordinary precocity. Her aptitude exceeded that of scholars ten years older than herself, and in less than two years she had passed every other pupil and stood at the head of her classes, the holder of all the honors competed for. At the age of fourteen she entered the service of Mrs. Baxter, the first wife of the farmer referred to. Rosa proved to be as good a girl for farm house duties as she had been a student, and the Baxter family liked her so well that she was treated in every respect as one of the family. She continued to live there, and when she had attained the age of eighteen her hand was sought in marriage by a young farmer from a neighboring village. Miss Fear declined, alleging she had no desire to quit the roof of her kind friends. About this time it began to be noticed that Rosa's features were losing their feminine softness, and that the symmetry of her form was vanishing, and giving place to masculine angularity. Her hands, once well shaped, began to grow large and coarse, and a down appeared on her upper lip. The presence of the latter greatly distressed her, and as it continued to grow in spite of all her efforts to prevent it, she became so ashamed that she refused to accompany the Baxters to the family pew in the village church, or mingle in any of the socials or parties in which she had once been a courted belle. The family, while deeply regretting the loss of Rosa's personal attractions, tried to laugh her out of her sensitiveness, but the girl appeared to be consumed with a secret. About six months after this Rosa did not appear as usual one morning. No answer came from her room, and when it was broken open it was found to have been unoccupied that night. All Rosa's clothes were hanging up, even to those she was accustomed to wear about the house. Two letters were found in her trunk, one addressed to Mrs. Baxter, the other to her parents. The contents of Mrs. Baxter's letter created the utmost consternation. It was said that the writer had gone away, that it would be useless to follow her, and that her life had become unbearable, because within a year nature had worked a complete metamorphosis, altered her, and making it necessary to change her home and raiment. The astonished Baxters discovered that she had attired herself in a suit of clothes belonging to Dr. A. A. Freeman, now an alderman from the first ward in that city, who had left them behind by mistake when on a visit to Mr. Baxter. Two months passed and a letter came in Rosa's handwriting. It informed the family that the writer was well and was working as a farm hand in Ohio. Two years elapsed, and one morning a fine-looking young man with sun-burned face, magnificent beard and heavy dark moustache, stood at the gate of the Fear homestead. "Do you know me, Mary?" he said to the young lady who came out to ascertain his business. The tones were deep and manly, and there was a familiar ring in the stranger's voice.

"It is Rosa," said the girl, and the next moment the spectators were regaled with a sight of Miss Fear clasped in the arms of a young fellow, giving back as many kisses on his moustache as he showered upon her uplifted face.

"Not Rosa, but Charles Fear now," said the whilom housemaid, and then he told them how after that wonderful change he had hired out as male help, that he had a little money, and that he had come back to work the farm. Mr. Charles Fear runs the farm to-day and Ripley has no citizen held in higher estimation than he. Since his return he has twice been appointed a teacher in the public schools, and he can be seen on the Fear farm every day of the week.

Dr. Freeman was called upon here regarding the suit of clothes, and he affirmed the account, stating also that he was well acquainted with all the circumstances related. He further stated that in his opinion nature was undecided as to Fear's sex, and that at the age mentioned masculinity developed.

A CALIFORNIA ROMANCE.

A Divorced Wife Re-Married After Years of Separation.

Quincy National.

Our old friend General Pope, so long and favorably known here, got back from a visit to his friends in Massachusetts the other day, and in conversation with him we gleaned a little life history that is worth repeating, and we give it briefly, as follows: Away back something over thirty years ago Mr. Pope was married to a young lady in Charleston, Mass. When the California fever broke out he left his bride and started for the new El Dorado, with bright anticipations of soon becoming rich and returning to her. A regular correspondence was kept up for a while, and every mail brought him a loving letter from home. Like all Californians he had his ups and downs, and the anticipated riches failed to come as he expected, but he persevered and labored with an industry that was worthy of a reward. A couple of years passed and then his trouble came. A villian who had lived in his town in Massachusetts went back from California and reported to his wife that he had proved unfaithful and was married again. She wrote to him to the effect that if he did not come home immediately she would obtain a divorce, and as he did not do so that was the result, and the situation has remained unchanged through all the years that have passed since that time.

Last fall, however, Mr. Pope concluded to visit his relatives in the old home, and started back about the 1st of December. Arriving at his brother's home, he was suddenly prostrated with fever, and for some time his life hung by a thread. His wife still resided in the same town, where she had supported herself in the business of a professional nurse. She was called in to nurse the sick stranger, and found in him the man to whom she had plighted her faith so long ago. Through the next six weeks she cared for him with a woman's devotion, and when the disease was conquered and strength slowly returned, the story of the past was rehearsed in all its particulars, and the truth showed that the only crime had been in being too proud and hasty, and that lies told by the cowardly villain and too readily believed, had made a blank page in two lives, covering a period of more than twenty-five years. But a sensible view of the case was taken, and the old friend concluded to "let by-gones be by-gones." A license was procured, a minister was called in, and with a select little company of the friends of both parties for witnesses, they again pledged themselves each to the other until death. Mr. Pope stays but a few days for his house here, and in the coming summer his wife will come to him or he will return to Massachusetts.

Silver bullion, English standard, 925 fine per fine ounce, 52¼.

THURSDAY EVENING, May 11.

The week under review has been bare of interest in the local wheat market, no transactions of importance having transpired. The scarcity of wheat, and prospects of ample tonnage supply, cause firmness in spite of unfavorable Liverpool advices, and we quote $1 65@1 67½ per cental delivered here, as the market rate for good milling wheat. Fine weather and good crop prospects in England have depressed prices, and buyers are scarce for distant or prompt shipments. The prevalence of north winds in California has still further injured the crop outlook, and fears are entertained that the surplus will turn out less than late estimates. As a consequence wheat in San Francisco, is firmly held, while freights show considerable weakness.

SHIPPING.

There have been no arrivals and no spot charters here since our last review, and the Oasco and Adolph Obrig still remain open. It is reported that an iron ship has been taken to load next month at Astoria at 60s, and a wooden one to load here at 52s 6d direct, while we have heard of no further business in forward charters for the next crop.

SALMON.

The salmon run continues light, not more than half as great as last year. One cannery, running from 20 to 30 boats, caught in April last year 3245 fish, and with the same number of boats this year 1694. During the first ten nights in May last year, the same cannery caught 4172 fish, and this year only 2330. This report fairly represents the catch all along the river.

WOOL.

The season can hardly be said to have opened yet, and scarcely anything is doing in this market. The only wool new in the market is that taken from mutton sheep. Stock sheep shearing has now commenced, and wool will soon reach this city in large quantities. The range of prices is a little wider, eastern Oregon qualities being 18 to 25 cents.

Portland Produce Prices.

Flour is very firm. Stocks of all kinds, both here and in San Francisco, are light. No change to note in oats. Receipts here are rather light, and shipments to California are becoming smaller with each steamer. We anticipate a very good local demand during the rest of the spring. Barley is unchanged, prices continuing firm. Nothing is doing in hay. Mill feed continues very scarce. Bran has advanced to $20 per ton, and at that price there is not enough in market to meet the local demand. If we have high water in the bottoms this year, as now seems probable, the demand for mill feed will be great and prices will advance. There is no change in cured meats. There is considerable inquiry for good country shoulders. Lard in kegs has advanced and is very scarce. Dried apples are unchanged; dried plums ditto. Hops are quiet. Nothing whatever is doing in this market. Green salted hides are in good demand. Oregon dairy butter is beginning to arrive very freely. Prices are weakening and nothing but extra fancy butter will bring the top quotation. Onions are a little weaker. Prices in San Francisco have declined. Eggs have advanced. Receipts during the week have been large, but the shipping demand has taken all the surplus, and prices are firm. Cheese has declined. No apples in market. There is a very good demand for hand-stripped timothy seed. Poorer qualities, however, are almost unsalable. Receipts of chickens have been light during the week. Prices have advanced. Potatoes have declined. Large shipments from here, the Sound and Salt Lake have broken the market at San Francisco. Consequently, prices here are lower. Shingles are in good demand. MARRIAGE INSURANCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

If any further proof were needed to convince anyone that so-called marriage insurance is nothing more than a delusion and a snare, [illegible] the decision of Judge [illegible] on the question, should be amply sufficient. The language of the court in the decision referred to was [illegible] and condemnatory [illegible], and it is not a little surprising that men of high social position, integrity and business acumen could be induced to lend the influence of their names to the directory of a business [illegible]. Indeed, I can account for the connection of such men with such a scheme only on the ground that it appeared to them at first as it did to me, to be as respectable as it was plausible, and as they incurred no personal liability they did not give the subject that careful and searching scrutiny which should be accorded to any new business, especially one of so novel a character and of which they [illegible] the slightest experience. I refer particularly to the [illegible], the "Nor'wester," as I have the very best of reasons for believing that it will prove to be a veritable "Nor'wester," a cold and biting blast to the fond hopes and [illegible] expectations of the many [illegible] policy holders. Being one of the assured I have taken the trouble to look into this matter, and, as I expected, have obtained some damaging facts in relation thereto. [illegible] Apart from the [illegible] of the business, it is entirely devoid of even the semblance of any capital security, which is the very life and soul of insurance.

By the terms of the contract the alleged capital stock is not liable to the claims of the assured, the company in its policies only agrees to pay a pro rata of the monthly premiums to matured claimants, the amount of which, it is evident, must depend on the business transacted and the number of claims to be adjusted. These claims, already very large, are by marriages daily increasing in magnitude, while the business, although at first considerable, has dwindled down next to nothing. To make a show of doing business the clerk hire, rents and other paraphernalia of an insurance office, always expensive, must be kept up. It thus becomes evident that the net cash on hand will be but a small amount, and consequently the pro rata or share of which each will receive at maturity of his or her claim will be, especially to the more sanguine ones, only as a mole hill to Mount Hood; while it would be idle to suppose that the directors, who have incurred no pecuniary liability, would go down into their pockets and disburse private funds simply to prevent the disappointment of a few scores of ardent swains who may have married with "great expectations."

Having stated only what I know to be facts for the benefit of the general public, and especially for those insured in the "concern," for whom I have a fellow feeling, there remains but one thing more to be performed in this connection on my part, and which I shall religiously attend to at the conclusion of this writing; and that is to solemnly cremate all my papers and claims against the "Nor'wester," and thus no longer retain A DUPED POLICY-HOLDER.
